83% of Americans reported that they like receiving promotional items.

Of those, 52% had more positive feelings towards companies after receiving a useful promotional product! The usefulness and staying power of promotional products make it the best advertising ROI as measured by cost per impression. Our Left/Right scissors are no exception.

Give your customers something creative and functional... Because if you're creating something with scissors you want them to be efficient. You want something that works well. You're always going to need a pair of scissors.

Now available in ANY COLOR. The technological innovations and groundbreaking combinations of materials together with the understated matter-of-factness make these scissors essential to any workspace. Plastic and stainless steel unite to create light, precision scissors with an ergonomic, ambidextrous handle. Whether you call them shears or scissors, you will love this popular favorite's rigorously human-centred design.

Strong and versatile, use them in the kitchen, garden and beyond. No office, craft room or garage should be without a pair of these scissors. The heavy duty serrated blades cut through almost anything. Tackle everything from delicate herbs to tough packaging. The magnetic sheath makes them easy to store, even easier to find when you need them, and ensures brand staying power. For right or left-handed use.
